Senior Class Officers

The senior class would like to thank the senior mothers for all of the work and time they put forward in helping and preparing banquets to help us make money for our class trip. We also would like to thank them for all of the other things that they have done to help us for the last four years. We would like to thank Mrs. Barker, our Jr. president's mother, and Mrs. Rader, our Sr. president's mother, for their excellent chairmanship for the last two years. We all appreciated this very much. We know that without them it would have been impossible.

Prophecy

The year is 1980, the place is along the harbor of the growing and prosperous city of McComb, which has now expanded to the great McComb River, commonly known in former days as the Blanchard River.

In the early rays of morning, we see the silhouette of a massive steamer, the S. S. McComb majestically sitting in the harbor.

As the sun climbs higher in the sky, the usual hustle that precedes travelers leaving for foreign ports has already hit the ship's terminal. On board the proud captain, Roy Wise, long associated with the high seas, is briefing his first mate, Dick Myers, on the procedures for the day.

As the ship slips away from the harbor and heads for the sea, the ship's doctor receives his first case of seasickness. The "doc" is none other than James L. Edie, formerly known as "Gus Goose," a world reknown physician and surgeon. Doctor Edie is famous for his stitching ability. We find that his nurse is Jo Fran Ferrell, former homecoming queen for dear old M. H. S. Helen Mae Spitler, former High School teacher and now retired, is suffering from acute seasickness, which "doc" gave her some pills for and left her to suffer it out.

After dismissing his nurse, "doc" goes on deck where he runs into a steward percariously trying to balance a tray full of dishes. The steward is none other than David Gallant. "Doc" helps to straighten the tray and as he heads toward the railing he spies his old chum and business associate, Blair Breece, who is the sole owner of Blair's Funeral Parlor in downtown McComb. Turning to let his friend go back to his bird-watching, he is amazed to see Kay Martens, the ships social director. Kay keeps her trim figure by her constant running from the Captain who has chased her over the seven seas, including the dead one. After leaving Kay to her own resources, "doc" ambles over to the swimming pool where he beholds the greatest sight to mortal man, a beauty contest. Seated in the judges chairs are Chuck Rader, Larry Tyson, Earl Winters, and Jim De Weese. On the sidelines waiting to escort the winner is Gene Stoepfel, owner of Stoepfel's Supurb Escorting Service. In deck chairs observing the activities are two of the world's richest men. They are of course, that millionair play-boy, Jerry Shoemaker, and his friend, Harold Varner, who owns the Horsechester Ranch for home-less horses.

"Doc" finds that his throat is dry so he heads toward the dairy bar where he orders his usual, strawberry milk. He is amazed to see his former classmate Glenda Siverling serving as a waitress. Glenda an Ex-scientist, has just perfected a 29th flavor of ice cream, beating Howard Johnson by two flavors.

"Doc" finds another classmate seated beside him. It's none other than John Winters, who is now running an experimental farm where he is trying to develop a new species of chicken to lay hard boiled eggs. Well, Good luck John.

Suddenly the light in the dairy bar dims and the matinee is under way, with the mistress of ceremonies being another classmate of "60," the one and only, Phyllis Sharninghouse. The first act on the program is Ed Barker and his Dublin Darlings; consisting of Sharron (Kick 'em High) Nigh, Elaine (Never dance in vain) Troutner, and last but not least, Carolyn (Let me dance forever) Spoons.

The next spectacular is Jan Montague and her all-male band, the only band of its kind because they play by ear instead of with their hands. The Rhythm Riots with Darreli Challen on cow bells and Junior Shafer on Oego horn created a sensation which ended the show. Coming out of the show "doc" sees a poster announcing a coming talk on "how to preserve a mummy by Douglas Benjamin, famous museum curator.

In the ship's beauty parlor "doc" finds Janet Apple busily engaged in fixing Kay Spoor's beautiful lavender hair. Kay is the debonaire wife of that wealthy oil man J. G. Wiggleworth of Wiggle-worth and wife Incorporated. Assisting Janet in the shop is Ruthann Shafer and Barbara Doty. Turning towards the door "doc" spies Mary Keeran happily baking under the heat of a dryer. Women are silly thinks our bachelor friend.

Standing near the rail "doc" hears the familiar word "gus" and turns to see Sharon Aukerman, who in High School had so affectionately called him by this nickname. Chatting with his old school chum, "doc" was reminded of the many happy hours he and Sharon had shared in the Senior homeroom.

Standing next to Sharon Aukerman is Sharon Tewell who is signing autographs. Sharon has just written her 187th novel entitled "Twenty-Seven ways to become a Beatnik" or "how to get Kookie to lend you his comb."

That night at dinner the captain announces that he had been asked to marry a couple in his private suite later that night and all are urged to attend.

Seating himself "doc" finds himself seated beside his old school friend La Vera Payne who is taking a vacation while her husband tends to the Quint triplets, George, Frank, Freddie, Dexter, and Oscar. La Vera and the former Elaine Inbody are proud of their families, each having quins is not too surprising as they always did things alike in school. We're proud of you girls.

Stains of the traditional "I Love You Truly" can be heard from the organ in the corner where Scott Rader and his songstress assistant, Sherry Zeller, provide the musical honors. Then Scott breaks into the beautiful and moving, Wedding March, Cha, Cha, Cha, as the best-man John Joe Shoop, and Bridesmaid Lucretia Caton lead the wedding procession. The bride is being given away by Arden Endrek another classmate. A hush falls over the crowd as Diane Booth, former cheerleader for our dear old high school, and Jim Rinehart, famous coach for the McComb Panthers taking over for the now old and retired coaches Bixel and Lucas, is seen coming down the aisle. The team which has turned professional is owned by Marietta Morrison, who is the only woman to ever own a team.

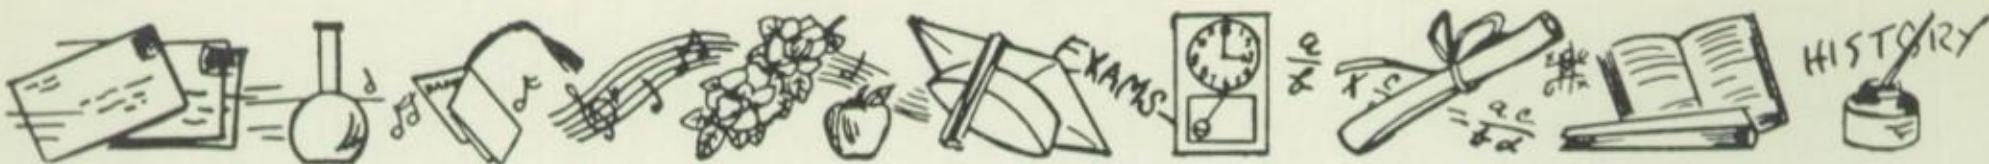

Just as the Captain ties the knot, the loud cry of MAN OVERBOARD! can be heard. The crowd rushes to the deck where they see Ed Beam gallantly fighting the waves. He had heard one of the crew members mention that sometimes ships are lost and land on an island paradise. It seems that Ed wanted to get there before the crowd. It was Ralph Tussing who rescued poor Ed by throwing him a life preserver. Deanne Kerley ace reporter for the McComb Herald will have plenty of news for the folks back home.

It was a happy reunion that night on board the S. S. McComb as the class of "60" enjoyed a happy union. In fact, it couldn't have been better, but alack and alas as we sail, the ship disappeared on the horizon and so did our hero. Doctor James L. Edie, "doc," was Seasick!

Will

We the Senior Class of 1960, being unmatchable by anyone, now leave our valuable and unvaluable idiosyncrasies and all our fond memories of good old MHS to the coming Seniors.

To our standbys '61 we leave our huge lockers hoping that you can get more in them than we ever could.
To our beloved '62 we leave our good behavior and disposition so that you can get along as well as we did with Mr. Lucas in the seventh period study hall.
To our beloved '63 we leave our sympathy and regret that they will be required to struggle along somehow without the superior advice, help, and direction, of the well qualified group of Seniors of 1960.
To the faculty we leave all of the pranks that we pulled and got away with during our four years of high school.
To the school we leave our names that we so patiently carved and wrote on the walls in the hope that they will never be removed.
To Carole Walsh, Janet Apple leaves her ability to go steady, but still flirt with every boy she meets, Carole we know that you don't need this.
To Janet Smith, Sharon Aukerman wills her ability to hate boys but still chase them as fast as she can.
To Wayne Rader, Ed Beam wills his sense of humor, remember Wayne, you have to laugh at all of Mr. Bixel's jokes.
To Ed Smith, Ed Barker wills his ability to talk out of turn in Government class and still get an A, so Ed can graduate in 62.
To Janis Snavely, Doug Benjamin wills his quiet disposition, remember Janis the word is QUIET.
To Ed Spitler, Diane Booth wills her cheering tights, providing he leaves out the seams and remembers to wear them at all basketball games.
To Terry Williams, Blair Breece wills his ability to have no project in Ag. and still stay in, providing you look interested, Terry.
To Bonnie Newcomer, Lucretia Caton wills her blond hair, so Bonnie won't have to bother with that bottle of black dye anymore.
To Don Ensign, Darrell Challen wills his speedy black and white station wagon, so Don will get his date home on time.
To Tom Shrewsbury, Jim DeWeese wills his black bomb, so Tom throw away your MOPED and get there on time.
To Cynthia Caton, Barbara Doty wills her ability to drive looking through the steering wheel instead of over it.
To Roger Lenhart, Jim Edie wills his swivel hip action in the backfield of the football field, so Roger get a move on it.
To Denny Altstaetter, Arden Endrek wills his ability to be in Mr. Ensign's office more than Mr. Ensign is.
To Mr. Bixel, Jim Ensign wills his careful driving and his car, so Roger won't have to walk every day to school.
To Nancy Shoemaker, Jo Fran Ferrell wills her guilty conscience providing it does not get Nancy into trouble, of course we know you are usually to blame anyway, Nancy.
To Janet Foltz, Elaine Inbody wills her dime store diamond just in case Larry can't afford a real one.
To Jim Lora, David Gallant wills all his old Bookkeeping papers, remember Jim correct all mistakes.
To Shirley Lora, Mary Keeran wills her well worn shoes from walking a mile to school every day, so Shirley can finish wearing them out.
To Marie Wise, Deanne Kerley wills her gift to gab, remember Marie don't go overboard, and always use an interesting subject.
To Sharon Butler, Kay Martens wills her well used affections for Roy.
To Arvina Swinehart, Jan Montague wills her sky high skirts, and remember Arvina, keep your head out of the clouds.
To Mr. Lucas, Marietta Morrison wills her friendship, remember only those who keep their mouths shut get lock-jaw.

To Sidney Agner, LaVera Payne wills her ability to drive her boy friend crazy and still keep him.

To Grace Leader, Sharron Nigh wills her ability to flirt with all the boys in chemistry lab, and still get her experiments finished.

To all boys, Chuck Rader wills his ability to move right next door to his girl friend, and then lose her.

To Bob Zeller, Scott Rader wills his ability to quit physics class, remember Bob, you can't quit until the 5th week.

To Bob Amstutz, Jim Rinehart wills his ability to pull off the starry eyed quarterback sneak, remember Bob, use it more often.

To Vernon Burnett, Junior Shafer wills his ability to eat an apple in the front of Mrs. Ensign's English class, and remember Vernon, an apple a day keeps straight A's away.

To Becky Shoop, Ruthann Shafer wills her diet book, remember, Becky, no cheating.

To Barbara Corron, Phyllis Sharninghouse wills her quiet disposition, remember Barbara, with quietness comes good grades.

To Dan Lora, Jerry Shoemaker wills his retractable hardtop, so Dan doesn't have to keep buying new tops for his convertible.

To Jerry Williams, John Shoop wills his ability to doctor up his books in Ag. and make a bigger profit than anyone else, don't forget Jerry, you lost money, and I didn't.

To Junior Herringshaw, Glenda Siverling wills her ability to read every book in the library, you have to learn to read first Junior.

To Carol Endrek, Helen Mae Spitler wills her ability to refuse her numerous dates with the opposite sex, so she can have more time to do her homework.

To Sharon Orwick, Carolyn Spoors wills her ability to return home from a date looking as fresh as when she left.

To Bobby Myers, Kay Spoors wills a pair of scissors, so next Halloween you can be prepared to cut the toilet paper from the trees which she put there.

To Paul Brickman, Gene Stoepfel leaves his comb, so your hair can always be as becoming as his was.

To Harriet Miller, Ralph Tussing wills his bashfulness, never the less Harriet, don't carry it too far.

To Nancy St. John, Sharon Tewell leaves her beautiful soprano voice, remember there is always the opera.

To Virginia Leader, Elaine Troutner wills her ability to go into a physics problem very deeply and never knowing what she is talking about, and end up saying "OH DEAR."

To the boys of the Junior Class, Larry Tyson wills his ability to be popular with girls providing they do better than he did.

To Bill Morse, Earl Winters, wills his horsy laugh so people will start riding him about his laugh too.

To anyone who is man enough to get behind the wheel, John Winters wills his hot Ford.

To anyone who wants it, Roy Wise wills Kay Martens porch swing providing they keep it as well occupied as he did and always have an explanation for Mr. Martens as to why they are there.

To Don Ewing, Harold Varner wills his love for the opposite sex, remember no telephone calling at six in the morning.

To Virginia Fletcher, Sherry Zeller wills her lighted baton, providing she doesn't loose any parts, or leave it laying on the field after a game.

To any boy who is capable, Dick Myers wills his ability to go steady with a girl out of town, and still date all the girls in his class.

We, the Senior Class of 1960, being of sound mind and sound body close this our last will and testament.

Signed, sealed, and delivered in the presence of: Scott Rader, Ch., Arden Endrek, Sherry Zeller, Elaine Inbody, and Marietta Morrison.

Class History

Well, seniors, we've finally hit our goal. Looking back over four years of high school, we find many pleasant memories that we will always treasure.

Do you remember back in 1956 when we began our high school career as Freshmen? We got off to a flying start with 51 students, among which was a new student, Jerry Pierce, from Findlay. We elected the following officers: President, Gary Geren; Vice President, Ed Barker; Secretary-Treasurer, Marietta Morrison; Reporter, Diane Booth; Historian, Kay Martens. Our advisor was Mr. White. We selected as our motto: "A Hard Beginning Makes a Good Ending," our class flower: the yellow rose, our class colors: orchid and white. We were glad to have Diane Booth elected as one of our high school cheerleaders and Lucretia Caton elected as the freshman attendant for the queen. We were proud of the freshman boys on the football and basketball teams.

We opened our Sophomore year with 50 students. We were sorry to lose Robert Sterling and Gerald George, but we were glad to welcome Jerry Shoemaker from Findlay. We elected the following officers: President, Roy Wise; Vice President, Ed Barker; Secretary, Phyllis Sharninghouse; Treasurer, Scott Rader; Historian, Jim De Weese. Mr. Schmunk was our advisor for this year. We were proud to have Diane Booth elected as one of the high school cheerleaders and Sophomore attendant for the queen. We ordered our class rings which we think are the prettiest yet!!

Forty-eight bright, talented students, flashing their sparkling new class rings enrolled as members of McComb Junior Class. We chose as our class officers: President, Ed Barker; Vice President, Roy Wise; Secretary, Scott Rader; Treasurer, Marietta Morrison; Historian, Kay Martens; Reporter, Sharron Nigh. Miss Painter was our advisor. During the summer we unfortunately lost four members of our class: Gary Geren, Lauren Inbody, Bill Like, and Jerry Pierce. We were glad to welcome Dick Myers from Leipsic. On November 7 we enjoyed presenting the play, "My Little Oscar." We were proud of Diane Booth, who was elected as the high school cheerleader and Jan Montague, who was elected as the Junior attendant for the queen. We carried on the tradition of the school in May by honoring the Seniors at the Junior-Senior banquet, the theme of which was "Mardi Gras."

After three years of struggling, we entered our senior year. We began the year with 48 students, among which was a new student, Rachel Castorena. We were sorry to lose Mary Jo Sterling, Lillie Whitney, and Rachel Castorena. We elected the following officers: President, Scott Rader; Vice President, Roy Wise; Secretary, Marietta Morrison; Treasurer, Kay Martens; Reporter, Sharon Tewell; Historian, Sharron Nigh. We were honored to have Miss Painter as our advisor once again. We were proud of Diane Booth's unbroken record as high school cheerleader. We were very proud of our lovely queen, Jo Fran Ferrell, and her Senior attendant, Jan Montague. On May 6 we presented the play, "Six Stitches for Ego." We were the honored guests of the Juniors at the Junior-Senior banquet on May 21. We graduated from our beloved school on May 22, 1960. The highlight of our senior year was our trip to Washington, D.C., which everyone enjoyed thoroughly.

Student Council

The McComb Student Council, a member of the National Association of Student Councils, is composed of the Presidents, Vice Presidents, and Secretaries of the upper six classes. These persons represent their classes in making various decisions throughout the school year.

The purpose of the Student Council is to give the students a chance to make suggestions on entertainment and scholastic progress in the school. We feel that through this plan, closer cooperation has been promoted between the teachers and students.

At the first meeting, we chose officers to preside during the year as follows: President, Scott Rader; Vice President, Roy Wise; Secretary-Treasurer, Marietta Morrison. Advisor, Mr. Ensign.

Various activities are sponsored by the Student Council. Among these were the Homecoming, and the Christmas Dance.

Everyone enjoyed the programs which were sponsored by the Student Council.

Funds for the organization to carry on its projects were raised through a magazine sale carried on by the school.

F. F. A.

The McComb Chapter of Future Farmers of America is composed of forty members who are in school, and three graduate members. To date we have eighteen Honorary Members, who are individuals out in the community that have shown a special interest in our progress. We have twenty graduates who have been awarded the State Farmer Degree. To be enrolled in this organization, you must select, manage, and complete at least one production project each year that you are a member of the Vocational Agriculture class. Our chapter is financed by group participation which provides an income large enough to sponsor all necessary activities. Our goal is to do tomorrow's task quicker and more efficiently and with increased profit. Our motto is "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, and Living to serve."

The following officers were elected by the organization to serve this year: President, Dick Myers; Vice President, John Shoop; Secretary, Roy Wise, Treasurer; Charles Rader, Reporter, Jerry Shoemaker; Sentinel, Blair Breece; Student Advisor, Jim Ensign; our advisor is Mr. White.

The F.F.A. participates in the County Public Speaking Contest, County Parliamentary Procedure, County Pest Hunt, and many other such activities.

Each year we climax our year with a Parent and Son Banquet. This event provides us an opportunity to honor our parents and receive awards for goals achieved.

Football

The Panthers, although starting the season with a loss at Mr. Blanchard, roared through the season with a 5-1-1 record. The only other mark on our record came at the hands of the Wildcats of Vanlue which was a 0 and 0 game. During the last two years the team has steadily improved. It has come mostly with the desire to win. We lose 13 Seniors this year and have a lot of positions to fill. It is hoped that the boys returning next year will fill these positions and turn in a perfect season.

The scores for this season are found below.

Following a very good football season, the Panthers came back to do it again in basketball. We ended up the regular season in the second place position. At the end of the regular season our record was 6 wins and 11 loses. The three league defeats came at the hands of Mt. Blanchard, Cory Rawson, and Arcadia. All three of these teams played an exceptional game against us. We hope to come out on top in the county tournament.

The season's scores are listed below.

1959 Homecoming

The spectacular event of the football season was the 1959 Homecoming game played with Arcadia. The enthusiastic fans watched the Panthers capture the Red Devils by the score of 14-8. McComb's high stepping band put on a thrilling show in honor of Queen Jo Fran. The entire evenings program was arranged by the Student Council. The kick-off to the evening was a delicious supper served by the senior class.

Senior Play

On May 6, 1960, the Senior Class Play, "Six Stitches for Ego" was presented.

The story was: For years, Psychologist Dr. Solomon Bell has conducted the Bell School for Adults, using the basic principles of the enlightened nursery school--and also a few of his own. Here, at any hour of the day or night, can come people who are quiet and sensible on the surface but who are violent and stormy on the inside. In the Bell School, they can let their feelings run riot. In the Mad Room, the students can shoot off guns, break vases or crockery, and set fire to drapes; in the laboratory, they can work with wood at the workbench, model clay at the table, finger-paint at the easel, blow or drum in the Music Corner, squoosh their toes in the mud pan and relax, or kick "the boss" (a life-sized dummy) around.

The characters: Dr. Solomon Bell, a psychologist who teaches, Roy Wise; Mrs. Kaye Ryan, the landlady who objects, Kay Martens; Merry Bell, a free soul at eighteen, Marietta Morrison; Melvin Stoddard, her choice, Ed Barker; Velvet Skinner, a chorus girl who eats, Janet Apple; John Bedford Judson, a banker who shouts, Arden Endrek; Elmira Judson, his wife who nags, Sherry Zeller; Rochelle Judson, his daughter who smolders while her parents fight, Sharon Aukerman; Greta Jones, a spinster who travels, Deanne Kerley; Beaver Williams, a commercial artist who draws feet, Jim Edie; Otto Schmidt, a policeman, Blair Breece; Sweetheart, a young hoodlum, Ed Beam; Eadie Setzer, a young mother in triplicate, Sharon Tewell; Newsboys, John Shoop, Douglas Benjamin, Jerry Shoemaker; Bum, Ralph Tussing; Shoplifter, Kay Spoors; Theatre Manager, Scott Rader; Woman in Audience, Helen Mae Spitler.
